

The Nutcombe Bottom Story

EXMOOR

NATIONAL PARK

Nutcombe Bottom is an outdoor area with forest paths

This means it is a place where I can spend time in the countryside

When I arrive to visit Nutcombe Bottom

I might see:

The car park and a sign which says 'Croydon Hill' and 'Nutcombe Bottom'

A signpost for the Trees Trail

An information board

Picnic benches

When I visit Nutcombe Bottom

I might see:

Lots of tall trees

The tallest tree in England!

Wood carved into different shapes

Signs made of wood

When I visit Nutcombe Bottom

I might see:

A swing

Muddy puddles

Different leaves

A footbridge over a river

When I visit Nutcombe Bottom

I might hear:

Birds

People playing in the wooden play area

The water in the river

People riding bikes

When I visit Nutcombe Bottom

I might touch or feel:

Pine cones

A smooth tree trunk

Moss

Gravel under my feet

When I visit Nutcombe Bottom

I might taste:

My picnic, if we have taken one with us

When I visit Nutcombe Bottom

I might smell:

Damp leaves

Pine trees

Most of all Nutcombe Bottom is a place where I can enjoy time outdoors

Some additional information for my visit
